Who teaches what?

The distribution of instructional resources at UMaine (AY08-09—AY10-11)

UMaine Office of Institutional Research
17 October 2012

---

This document includes detailed tables to accompany the Distribution of instructional resources at UMaine summary report. Following the list of tables (see table below) and an outline of the definitional considerations, are roughly 100 tables that can serve as a rich resource for readers to explore the distribution of instructional resources at UMaine.

List of Tables

Appendix	Course Type	Description	Data Presented	Tables (Each set of tables includes a UMaine-wide table and a table for each college <sup>1</sup> )
A	Lectures and Seminars	Departmental E&G and Non- Departmental E&G Combined (AY08-09 through AY10-11)	Course Sections	A1 – A7
			Student credit hours	A8 – A14
			Course credit hours	A15 – A21
		Departmental E&G vs. Non- Departmental E&G (AY08-09 through AY10-11)	Course Sections	A22 – A27
			Student credit hours	A28 – A33
			Course credit hours	A34 – A39
		Face-to-Face vs. Online (AY08- 09 through AY10-11)	Course Sections	A40 – A45
			Student credit hours	A46 – A51
			Course credit hours	A52 – A57
B	Labs	Departmental E&G and Non- Departmental E&G Combined (AY08-09 through AY10-11)	Course Sections	B1 – B6
			Student credit hours	B7 – B12
			Course credit hours	B13 – B18
C	Other Courses <sup>2</sup>	Departmental E&G and Non- Departmental E&G Combined (AY08-09 through AY10-11)	Course Sections	C1 – C7
			Student credit hours	C8 – C14
			Course credit hours	C15 – C21

---

<sup>1</sup> Included in the UMaine-wide data are all courses (100 level and above) that can be attributed to one of the six colleges: BPPH, EHD, ENG, LAS, NSFA, and Honors.

<sup>2</sup> Because the process of assigning sections and credit hours for team-taught independent studies and thesis/dissertation courses was not consistent across the three years, we display data for only AY10-11. The process used in AY10-11 will be the standard procedure for handling team-taught courses going forward.

Methodological and Definitional Considerations

On a methodological note, we examined three academic years of instructional activity—AY08-09, AY09-10, AY10-11—with course-related data obtained on the October 15th and February 15th census dates in the respective year. Although course- and faculty-related data originated in MaineStreet, these data were subsequently vetted by the respective college, with corrections being made as needed.

As for definitions, the following comments serve to clarify the meaning of key terms and phrases found throughout this report.

- Course Section: the individual class, having a unique class number, section number, room number, and day/hour meeting schedule.<sup>3</sup>
- Course credit hours: a course's credit-hour value (usually 3 for a lecture or seminar, 1 or 0 for a lab), based on weekly contact hours between instructor and students.
- Student credit hours: the product of a course's credit-hour value and the course's total enrollment.
- College: the college offering the course, regardless of the instructor's affiliation. (For example, PSY courses are considered to be offered by LAS, whether or not the instructor teaching the PSY course is from LAS.)
- Course level: lower-division, upper-division, graduate level.
- Course type: lectures/seminars, labs (includes music labs and art-studio courses), and other. (Other courses comprise clinical/field/practica experiences, independent studies, recitations, and thesis/research credits.)<sup>4</sup>
- Face-to-Face courses: courses not offered online, including hybrid/blended courses and classroom courses broadcast over the ATM system.
- Online courses: a web-based asynchronous course.<sup>5</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Combined-section and cross-listed courses are treated as one section. For team-taught courses, furthermore, the section and student credit hours are split among the instructors of record. In the case of a team-taught course involving two instructors, for example, each instructor would be counted as teaching half a section and half the course's student credit hours. (This occasionally introduces rounding error where the number of sections or student credit hours are broken down by an instructor characteristic. As a consequence, the subgroup ns do not always sum precisely to the total N, nor do the subgroup percentages always sum precisely to 100%.)

<sup>4</sup> Because of complications with the transition from ISIS to MaineStreet in AY08-09, we were unable to analyze other courses in the same manner as lectures/seminars and labs. We therefore provide data for other courses only for AY10-11.

<sup>5</sup> These courses are defined using the MaineStreet section numbers 0400, 0990, 0991, 0992, 0993, 0995, 0996, 0999, and, if the MaineStreet instruction mode indicates a web-based class, 0869.

- T/TE faculty: tenured or tenure-eligible faculty (includes some part-time appointments).
  - Non-T/TE faculty: faculty members who are neither tenured nor tenure-eligible (includes full-time and part-time appointments, whether regular or temporary).
  - Graduate students: teaching assistants or graduate assistants who are the course's instructor of record.
  - Other instructors: instructors who are neither a faculty member (whether T/TE or non-T/TE) nor a graduate student. (Other instructors include UMaine employees teaching a course, Army ROTC instructors, instructors employed by another UMS campus, instructors who are compensated by an entity other than UMaine, or non-salaried instructors.)
  - Non-faculty: graduate students and other instructors combined.
- Departmental E&G: courses generally paid for by the academic unit. (MaineStreet section numbers having a second digit of zero or two [e.g., 0001 or 0288] are considered to be associated with departmental E&G courses.)
  - Non-departmental E&G: courses generally paid for by a unit other than the academic unit offering the course, such as Academ-e, CED, and Section Project courses. (MaineStreet section numbers having a second digit other than zero [e.g., 0860] are considered to be associated with non-departmental E&G courses.)
