

How Can I Get Involved?

Nearly 30% of Maine's solid waste stream is food waste. When we put food waste into our solid waste stream we are placing a burden on our landfills which lack the capacity to support the amount of food waste we are currently putting in them. Additionally, by putting food waste into our solid waste stream we are wasting money to haul away the extra waste which could be diverted elsewhere.

There is a solution. All across Maine there are companies that haul away our food waste, diverting our waste away from landfills. If we collaborate with these companies, by bringing our food scraps to our local transfer stations, or by participating in curbside collection, we can help make a change.
