General Award Nomination Guidelines

The Executive Committee of the Graduate Board will select the recipients for all assistantships, fellowships, and scholarships. Awards will be based upon departmental recommendations and academic performance, including previous GPA(s) and entrance test scores; the MJEDF and JWDRF awards have additional criteria. All pertinent information must be included with each nomination.

1. Nominations should be submitted through the appropriate electronic nomination form by the graduate coordinator and must include:
   a. An electronic nomination form (https://umaine.edu/graduate/facultystaff-resources/financial-awards-nominations/).
   b. A letter of support (see specific award documentation for further instructions). Letters of support must describe the reasons for nominating the student, should not exceed 450 words (600 words for MJEDF and JWDRF), and must be specific to the student and to the award for which he/she is nominated.
   c. See additional specific award requirements in the attached documentation.

2. Students may not hold more than one fellowship or assistantship without explicit permission from the Graduate School.

3. All nominees must be admitted to the Graduate School as regular, full-time graduate students. Scholarship recipients currently applying to the Graduate School must be admitted within 2 weeks of selection for the scholarship. See additional requirements regarding award eligibility.

4. Awards become effective for Fall 2018.

5. Nomination deadlines are noted for each individual award.

6. All nominees must have any/all required entrance examination scores on file in the Graduate School office (e.g., GRE, GMAT, MAT, and English proficiency examinations [if applicable]).

7. Recipients of awards will receive tuition coverage for a maximum of nine (9) graduate credit hours (400-600 level) at the University of Maine each semester (Eckardt fellowship recipients will receive additional pay in lieu of tuition coverage). Recipients must remain full-time students for the duration of the award. Doctoral students who have passed their comprehensive examinations (the Notification of Comprehensive Examination form must be on file with the Graduate School indicating their admission to candidacy) may register for one (1) credit hour per semester and be considered full-time students. All others must register for at least six (6) credit hours per semester to be considered full-time students.

8. Three of the awards: 1) Atlantic Provinces Scholarship, 2) Trustee Tuition Scholarship, and 3) Thurgood Marshall Scholarship offer only tuition support. The Graduate School recognizes that occasionally it is necessary to combine resources to provide competitive funding for a graduate student. If stipend support becomes available and there are no other tuition benefits associated with the stipend funds, a department may petition the Graduate School in writing for permission to allow the student to earn a stipend and keep the scholarship award. The intent of this provision is to promote the identification of additional sources of support for graduate students, not to eliminate tuition costs from grant budgets.

Janet Waldron Doctoral Research Fellowship (JWDRF)

Award Details
Number to be awarded: 2-3 (5 total awards offered for 1-2 years)
Limit: 2 nominations per unit

A minimum of two (2) Janet Waldron Doctoral Research Fellowships (JWDRF) are available in academic year 2018-19 to be awarded by the Graduate School, designed to stimulate research and scholarship at UMaine as measured by a research productivity and doctoral-degree graduate rate.

The award recipient will receive: a stipend of $25,000 (12 monthly installments of $2,083.33); a tuition waiver for up to nine (9) credit hours for the fall and spring semesters, up to 1 (one) credit in summer of 2019; and half of the cost of the University of Maine Health Insurance Policy for Graduate Assistants/Fellows.

The JWDRF is intended to provide up to two years (24 months) of support for doctoral students to assist in completion of their degrees. Support for the second year is contingent upon budget availability and success in meeting productivity goals. JWDRF recipients and their advisors are required to submit an interim report in the spring of the first year and a final report at the end of the fellowship period.

Recipients must register for a minimum of six (6) credit hours per semester unless they have passed their comprehensive examinations, in which case they may register for at least one (1) credit hour per semester.

Eligibility
The JWDRF is open to all full-time doctoral students, regardless of discipline, who have completed at least one year as a full-time doctoral student at UMaine by the time the award is received.

Nomination Procedure
All electronic nomination forms must include in one (1) pdf file the following documents in the order listed below:

- Letter of Support:
  - Written collaboratively by the student’s advisor and graduate coordinator
  - An explanation of how JWDRF award will enhance the productivity of student, faculty member, and graduate program
  - A statement of the measures of award success (what will indicate appropriate success toward JWDRF goals at the end of each fellowship year?)

- Dissertation Abstract:
  - Written by the student
  - Not to exceed 450 words

- Student’s CV
- Faculty’s CV

Selection Process
Awards will be distributed competitively based on the selection criteria listed below. The Graduate Executive Committee, chaired by the Vice President for Research and Dean of the Graduate School and including the Associate Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies, Assistant Vice President for Graduate Studies and Senior Associate Dean, and six elected members from the Graduate Board.

Selection Criteria
(1) Janet Waldron Doctoral Research Fellowships are open to full-time doctoral students who have completed at least one year as a full-time doctoral student at UMaine by the time that the award is received. This policy will allow the faculty sponsor to explicitly address student performance and the potential of the student to fulfill the award expectations. Preference will be given to students who have been admitted to candidacy or shown other evidence of having a high likelihood of completing the degree.
Fellowships are intended to enhance research productivity. Therefore, faculty advisors should explain how the addition of the research fellowship will impact specific performance indicators that are applicable to the discipline in which the student is receiving the degree. Preference will be given to students in areas that have demonstrated a commitment to doctoral education through leveraging of existing research grants and teaching assistantships for the support of doctoral students.

Fellowships are intended to improve our national standing among public research universities by, for example, increasing the annual number of doctorates graduated (e.g., http://mup.asu.edu/). To achieve these goals, the Fellow must intend to be a full-time student for the term of their doctoral studies. Preference will be given to faculty sponsors with a track record of timely completion of their doctoral students. Doctoral Research Fellowships cannot extend past the sixth year of full-time doctoral studies at UMaine, as degree completion would be expected by that time.

Fellowships will typically start on September 1. By March 15 of the first year of JWDRF support, the faculty advisor must submit a report on fellowship-related activities to the Dean of the Graduate School, and the faculty advisor must certify that a fellow is making satisfactory progress toward the doctoral degree. After certification, fellowship funds will be made available for the second year. If the report is not provided, or if the Dean of the Graduate School deems the activities to be inadequate, the remaining award may be forfeited.

Fellowship support is to be used in consecutive semesters. Interruptions in use of the award will result in the forfeiture of the affected semester(s) unless a request for interruption is approved by the Dean of the Graduate School.

The advisor or department of the fellow has the option within the above constraints to provide additional supplementary funding if available. However, fellows may not take on more than 10 hours per week of additional employment of any kind above the fellowship commitment. Ideally, any additional employment should be related to the student’s dissertation topic.

Fellows should acknowledge the Janet Waldron Doctoral Research Fellowship in publications including web pages, whether copyrighted or not, by either an authorship footnote or an acknowledgment of support.
