

From Common Lands to Second Nature

The Scholarship of Richard W. Judd and the Future of Eastern Environmental History

A panel to discuss the significance of Professor Richard Judd's career as he heads into retirement and to explore new directions in eastern environmental history.

Friday, May 4th, 3-5 PM
Bangor Room, Memorial Union
University of Maine

Brain Payne

Bridgewater State University, author of Fishing a Borderless Sea: Environmental Territorialism in the North Atlantic, 1818-1910

Kate Viens

Director of Research at the Massachusetts Historical Society and editor for the Massachusetts Historical Review

John Cumbler

Suffolk University and University of Louisville, author of Cape Cod: An Environmental History of a Fragile Ecosystem and Reasonable Use: The People, the Environment, and the State, New England 1790-1930

Matthew McKenzie

University of Connecticut, New England Fisheries Management Council, author of Clearing the Coastline: The Nineteenth-Century Ecological and Cultural Transformation of Cape Cod

Brian Donahue

Brandeis University, Director of Working Landscapes program at Harvard Forest, author of The Great Meadow: Farmers and the Land in Colonial Concord

A special thanks to the UMaine History Department and History Graduate Student Association for sponsoring this event.