

Archaeology Month Lecture – Exploring Archaeology, Social Memory, and Climate Change

Kristina Douglass

Associate Professor of Climate,
Columbia Climate School

Tuesday, October 28th at 7pm

100 Donald P. Corbett Hall
University of Maine, Orono

Free and open to the public

Award-winning archaeologist Kristina Douglass, (Associate Professor of Climate, Columbia Climate School) will present an illustrated public lecture on her research which explores the dynamic co-evolution of people, land, and seascapes. She is a 2021 Carnegie Fellow and currently serves as an Associate Professor of Climate in Columbia University's Climate School. Before joining Columbia, she was the Joyce and Doug Sherwin Early Career Professor in the Rock Ethics Institute and an Assistant Professor of Anthropology and African Studies at Penn State University. Douglass is also a Smithsonian Institution Research Associate and a leading voice in climate-centered archaeology.

For more info call 207-581-1904 • www.umaine.edu/hudsonmuseum